

Denbigh and Varroville - Cow Pastures day

Members at Varroville learning from owners Peter Gibbs and Jacqui Kirkby some of the challenges of conserving its landscape setting.

Silky oak and sweet gum trees provide lacy shade over variegated century plants on Denbigh, Cobbitty's driveway on our recent Cowpasture gardens day.

Varroville, Campbelltown's internal carriage loop is intact and framed by hoop pines (Araucaria cunninghamii) and an oleander from at least c.1850.

Candelabra cactus (Cereus peruvianus) sporting creamy trumpet flowers at Denbigh, Cobbitty.

Varroville's northern garden front is carefully sited towards but not on the top of a rise, affording shelter and extensive arc-views of a most pleasing, undulating landscape estate.
