18 - 20 October 2024

Bunbury

Hesperia: Looking West

The last time AGHS members visited Western Australia for a national conference was 10 years ago. They travelled right down south to Albany. This time the branch invites interstate members to come west for the 44th annual national conference (18 to 20 October 2024) in the coastal city of Bunbury, about two hours' drive south of Perth. (Non-members can zoom into the lectures from around the world.) Visits during the conference will include places of early settlement when the colony saw its future in the hands of Hesperus, the god of the west wind.

Colonisation of the western sector of New Holland was considered a venture that offered trading opportunities with the large British populations in India, and after 1814, the British Cape colony on the southern tip of Africa. The initial settlement on the Swan River in 1829 was championed by Captain James Stirling, who had convinced the British Government to support the establishment of a colony by free settlers. The name he contemplated for the new colony was Hesperia from Hesperus, the Greek name for the god of the west wind. This was not adopted, with the name the Swan River Colony being used until it became officially Western Australia in 1832.

So come to Hesperia where the landscapes are varied and the horticulture, equally so. They offer you a chance to escape to the country, to explore the variety and history of this South West land. We earnestly appeal to you to come 'Bunburying' with us, to live another life in far WA for a few days, converse with friends and immerse yourselves in the gardens of this beautiful area of the South West corner of our continent.

Getting to Bunbury

Bunbury is located on the coast of Western Australia south of Perth.

By Car

Bunbury is 180km and about two hours' drive from Perth via Forrest Highway.

By Air

Flights are available between Perth and Busselton.

There are direct flights from Melbourne to Busselton, about 45 minute drive south of Bunbury, and from March 2024 they will also depart from Sydney.

By Coach

There is a Transwa coach service operating between Bunbury and East Perth terminals.

Unfortunately the train service to Bunbury is temporarily shut-down during rail revitalisation projects consequently generous discounts for coach travel between Bunbury and Perth apply to all customers.

Click on the link below to book your coach tickets

Weather

Bunbury temperatures in October are between 20 degrees and 11 degrees.

Important Information

All delegates must be AGHS members. Non-members can attend the lectures-only component, the virtual conference and/or the Optional Day.

Full conference delegates attending garden visits must travel on conference coaches and be fit and capable of walking at least 3km to 4km unassisted. Please note that some gardens may involve uneven ground, sloping terrain, stairs and steps. If you require assistance, please make arrangements for a personal carer to be included in your booking and notify AGHS by email. Alternatively, consider attending the conference as a lectures-only or virtual delegate.

Delegates may consider hiring a car to explore the region prior to or after the conference.

The seaside resort city of Mandurah and award winning Margaret River wine region are within an hour drive of Bunbury.

WA has very strict quarantine laws and the importation of seeds, plants, fruits, vegetable matter and honey is prohibited.
